COMMENT and RUMOR

Burritt S. Mills was at La Mesa yesterday telling of some experiences had abroad at the outbreak of the war. He was invited to the inland town by Mrs. James H. Hughes, former resident of Ocean Beach.

An unusual rain, and it was a good steady refreshing one, fell early Thursday morning. Folks who were out tell us it begun shortly after midnight. It was not continuous but came in copious downpours that will greatly freshen the lawns and add to the production of our victory gardens.

M. C. McGunnegill, proprietor of Mack's Barber shop at 4937 Newport ave. since February, has been confined to his home the past two weeks suffering from a disabled foot, suffered when he accidentally stepped off the sidewalk in avoiding an unfriendly dog.

Wednesday night two roomers at the Newport hotel, 4961 Newport ave., had their rooms entered and a loss of $60 is reported by Miss Jeanne E. Hudgens, and a wrist watch and $70 cash, stolen from the room of James R. Flesse.

The store burglar was out again Monday night but so far as known did not get away with any loot. At one business establishment he had pried off the door latch but presumably was unable to pick the lock or make an entrance.

Most of our stores have had burglar alarms installed during the past month as an insurance against loss by burglary.

A friendly merchant and business man believes a customer's memory will last longer than the war.

Blondes do not have dispositions sweeter than those of brunets. This on authority of a woman who has been both.

As we come to the end of a perfect day, we turn to Robert Louis Stevenson for the last words:

"To be honest, to be kind—to earn a little and spend a little less, to make upon the whole a family happier for his presence, to renounce that shall be unnecessary and not to be embittered, to keep a few friends, but these without capitulation—above all, on the same grim conditions, to keep friends with himself—here is a task for all that a man has of fortitude and delicacy."

The man who does his work, any work, conscientiously, must always be in one sense a great man.—Muloek.

Prominent Men Work For Kraft

Numerous organizations and individuals are daily offering support to Assemblyman Fred H. Kraft, in his fight for re-election to the California legislature from the 78th district.

Latest "glowing endorsement for Kraft's" "outstanding legislative record" came from the San Diego County Insurance Committee for Kraft, which is headed by Marston Burnham, who has been prominent in insurance circles for many years. Serving on the committee are Ralph Bach, Byron Gilchrist, E. T. Starke, Norman Routledge, F. R. Corbett, Franklin T. Hale, Ewart Goodwin, I. E. Friedman, Ed Hall, R. Hastings Garland, Richard A. Mills, R. Victor Venberg, Don B. Goldsmith.

"The next two and one-half years, presumably, will see the end of the war and will be the most important era in the history of California, it will be a history-making period and for this reason, if for no other, San Diego county must keep strong representatives in the state legislature."

"Our present assemblyman from the 78th assembly district, Frederick H. Kraft, belongs to the sound-thinking majority. He is completing his first term in the state assembly and has acquired valuable political experience and prestige, for which there is no substitute. Apathy is an enemy of good government, and elections are many times lost because our conservative citizens neglect their duty."

MARY CLARKE WINS EGG RECIPE

Miss Mary Clarke, 4684 Bermuda ave., was the winner of the $5 cash award offered last week by the Morris Market. Her recipe is Dixie Casserole and will be found in the page advertisement of Morris Market elsewhere in this issue.

City Will Lease Scott Building

City councilmen Tuesday instructed City Manager Walter W. Cooper to lease the old merry-go-round building on the Ocean Beach strand for use as a youth recreation center, "on the best basis possible."

Harold Scott, who owns this building, formerly belonging to the Davis family, has been cooperative and patient with city authorities, and it was only after the city manager's office declined to pay a nominal increase in rent that he decided to lease to others.

We are told the city's new lease, when executed, will be for a period of two years, and that the city manager has been instructed to secure plans and ideas for a larger recreation center on the city-owned property at Newport avenue and Abbott street.

EVENSUNG SUNDAY

The integrity of men is to be measured by their conduct, not by their professions.—Junius.

Abbey Voices Opposition To Regimentation

James B. Abbey, Republican candidate for congress, declared this week that in adopting the slogan, "Give Government Back to the People," he was actuated by a desire to arouse voters of the 23rd district to the threat of continued regimentation after the war.

"Hundreds of federal bureaus, boards and commissions have been created in the last 40 years, many of them since we entered the war," he pointed out. "To understand just how such agencies take government away from the people we must remember that nearly all of them are operated by men who were appointed by the President and who are not responsible to either congress or the people."

"A study of our political history reveals that administrations which establish new agencies during emergencies rarely if ever voluntarily abolish them, and invariably a change of administrations is needed to effectively clean house."

"The American people have had a taste of bureaucratic control and they don't like it. They are enduring regimentation now because it has been a necessary temporary war measure, but they want to be rid of it as soon as hostilities cease."

Jack Reich Flies Down From Alaska

Jack Reich, son of Mrs. Edith Reich, 4721 Newport ave., is home on thirty days leave from his work with the Department of Commerce Civil Aeronautics Association, flying down last week from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Seattle. Since Jack's last trip home he has been in the Alaskan area continually and was as far north as Anchorage in March. He is greatly enjoying his visits with old friends and neighbors.

Books On Gardening In Ocean Beach Library

Help win the war with your own victory garden! The Ocean Beach branch library, located on the corner of Santa Monica ave. and Sunset Cliffs blvd., has the following helpful books on gardening.

James H. Burdette, director of the National Garden Bureau, has written a concise, easy-to-understand manual for home vegetable gardeners. It is based on his many years experience and contains many of the latest scientific discoveries in nutrition and horticulture. The title is "Victory Garden Manual."

"Gardens for Victory," by Putman, tells how to get the most in health, vitamins and beauty out of a small vegetable garden. This book provides one answer to the problem of better meals on less money.

The "Food Garden," by Blair, is a how-to-do-it book. The text gives full explanations for gardening and insect and disease control, as well as harvesting and storing methods. The Blairs have selected for discussion 33 vegetables, eight greens, eight salad vegetables, six herbs and 17 fruits and berries. Particular attention

Calls It Crime San Diego Missed National Highways

"The fact that San Diego has not been regarded as a terminal for one of the super national highways is a political crime," was the position taken today by Don Smith, candidate for the Republican nomination for congress, 23rd district.

"We are supposed to have a representative in Washington to look out for the interests of this county—and he is supposed to be one of the administration's fair-haired boys. Yet, San Diego, the third largest metropolitan area in California, and one of the most important areas in the United States, from the standpoint of war production and military establishment, was left off the national highway system while Los Angeles was designated as the terminal for three of the highways."

"It is going to take a lot of fight by all of us—and it is going to take a lot of working together by all of us to remedy this political nonfeasance and get the recognition to which this county is entitled—recognition as a terminal for one of the national highways."

Kiwanis Women Fete Husbands, Lively Program

Kiwanians of Ocean Beach were hostesses to their husbands in a great pot-luck dinner Tuesday evening at the Point Loma Methodist church. Mrs. Henry Holman presided at the head table with President Glen Jones assistant advisor.

Immediately following opening ceremonies Don Keller of National City, together with distinguished service men guests, were introduced and given a few minutes of the program. These men were Captains Eugene Wallace and Robert Fuller, and Pvt. John York, son of the famous Sergeant York. They came in the interest of recruiting air Wacs.

Community singing followed. Then a lively evening began with the ladies pulling out of the proverbial "magician's hat" one of their own millinery creations for the men to don during the evening.

Mrs. Maxine Doyle, sister and guest of Mrs. W. B. Oster, gave several juvenile readings that kept the members in a happy frame of mind. Veda Moss, "keeper of the kitty," was alert at all times to help the chairman make it a "fine" evening. Crowning "clown" event was a quartette number by Moss, Strauss, Hunt and Jones.

As the meeting was turned back to the president of the Kiwanis group for closing, Mrs. Lillian Hartvigsen sang three selections of old-time melodies.

is called to preventive foods and those high in vitamin content. The Sunset Garden Book and many others are for circulation also.

Library hours are: Daily (except Sunday), 2:00 to 8:00 p. m.; Wednesday, 10:00 to 8:00.

TWO PLANES COLLIDE

In a plane crash Tuesday which cost the lives of 29 persons, Fred E. Secore, Convair pilot, was among those killed. His wife, Mrs. Mabel Claire Secore, resides at 943 Cordova dr., Sunset Cliffs, also one child.

Two B-24 Consolidated Liberator bombers collided head-on and crashed 12 miles northeast of Yuma. One of the planes was traveling from the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. plant here to Convair modification plant at Tucson.

The other bomber was on a training flight and enroute to its home base at March field when the planes collided and crashed in flames. The bodies were recovered and taken to Yuma.

Ed Kickham Advocates Election Of Sheridan Downey

Ed Kickham, Mission Beach pioneer and business man, is heading the local campaign which has for its goal the election of Sheridan Downey to the United States Senate.

Mr. Kickham is sincere in his choice of candidates and can always be counted on as having the best interests of friends and neighbors at heart when he wants them to vote for a certain person. Ed says, "Experience is better than inexperience," and you'll find more to this story on another page of this newspaper.

No Smoking Now On Buses And Cars

Maintenance crews worked late last night at the car barns and bus terminals of the San Diego Street Railway Co. to install "No Smoking" signs in the 427 conveyances of the public utility.

The street railway company could not put up the signs before the ordinance took effect, and as it takes effect today, April 28, the signs are supposed to be in place. This made a long rush job for a limited crew.

There will be 281 buses and 146 street cars requiring "No Smoking" signs. Each vehicle will have a permanent enamel sign, similar to the present "Smoking in One Third Rear Seats" warning and, in addition, there also will be two temporary stickers for each vehicle.

Though street railway workmen had their worries with the coming of the city council's no smoking order, police expressed confidence in their ability to enforce the new ruling.

"The average smoker, I believe, realizes this ordinance is for his or her protection and well-being, and consequently will cooperate rather than work against its enforcement," Police Chief Clifford E. Peterson said last night.

Let anyone forget, Peterson pointed out that there can be a maximum $500 fine or six months' imprisonment or both for violation of the new law.

School Principal Will Speak at Methodist Church

The Point Loma Methodist church will observe Public School Week by having as guest speaker at the morning worship service the following principals representing their respective schools: Mrs. Martha McIntosh, principal Ocean Beach elementary school; Clarence Swensen, principal Dana Jr. High school, and L. L. Bloomenshine, principal Point Loma High school. Each principal will speak five minutes on the general theme, "Character Building in the School." Rev. James F. Roberts, pastor, will bring the morning message.

Everyone, especially parents with children in the respective schools, is urged to attend.

San Diegans Named In Phone War Digest

Five San Diego telephone people are named in a Bell System employee booklet of stories dealing with telephone service in the war.

The San Diegans mentioned in the booklet, which is published under the title of "Telephone War Digest," are Frank Vogt, installation foreman; John Trelease, P. B. X. installer; G. A. Stinstrom, district plant superintendent; Arvid L. Hellberg, district traffic superintendent, and Beulah Hamilton, supervisor in charge of a downtown attended public telephone office.

Fast work in installing telephone equipment for an army unit immediately after the Japanese attack is covered in the story presenting Vogt, Trelease and Stinstrom. Hellberg figures in an account of the placing in operation of the San Diego Filter Center. Miss Hamilton is quoted on the job of handling messages from servicemen to their families.

They Were in the Attack—Are You Backing Them Up With War Bonds?

John B. Ohe, 26, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a Motor Machinist 2nd Cl., was wounded during the invasion of Sicily. Doctors found 115 pieces of shrapnel when they operated. A brother is a prisoner in Germany. Both are buying War Bonds.

Walter Feitrag, 20, of New York, was also wounded during the invasion of Sicily. He was in seven hospitals in Africa before being returned to the hospital at St. Albans. A brother, his mother and himself buy War Bonds regularly. Do you?

A strafing German pilot wounded Lt. (jg) Hinton E. Kinney, 31, of Carrollton, Ga., during the Sicilian invasion, one bullet going through his right knee. He has just bought a $1,000 War Bond. Are you buying your share of War Bonds?

Voight W. Baker, 30, of Detroit, Mich., is a Seabee. The ship he was on was torpedoed. His wife, brother and dad all work in the same defense plant in Detroit and buy War Bonds regularly. Baker owns $1,600 worth. Are you buying your share of War Bonds?

Fire Controlman 3rd Class Will Ham C. Wenzel, 18, of Massillon, Ohio, a member of a destroyer's crew, was wounded at Bizerte in the Tunisian campaign. He received shrapnel wounds in both legs. The War Bonds you buy assure him the best hospital care.

Russian Blitz Clears Crimea Path as Allied Bombers Pound Western Europe; 'Stop Aiding Nazis' Neutrals Warned; Japs Press 3-Pronged Drive in India

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Italy—New Zealand troops close on German sniper in Cassino ruins.

EUROPE:
Invasion Path

While Russia's land armies carried the war into the Balkans, Allied bombers continued pounding Axis military and industrial installations throughout Fortress Europe, concentrating on the invasion path in the west.

As the Russians stormed into Rumania, other Red forces drove ahead in the Crimea, huge chunk of land thrust into the Black sea and guarding the water route to the eastern Balkans. As the Russians approached the Rumanian rail junction of Jassi, they encountered stiffening resistance from native troops, fighting by the side of German soldiers, strengthened by shorter defense lines.

In continuing their whirlwind assaults to smoothen an invasion path, Allied bombers struck at airfields, railroad junctions and military defenses throughout the French and Belgium area. Far to the southeast, U. S. bombers based in Italy hammered Nazi airplane factories in the Vienna and Budapest regions. In ground fighting below Rome, both sides were reported making extensive troop movements in preparation for a resumption of bitter fighting.

Warn Neutrals

Having suspended oil shipments to Spain and announced restriction of steamship service to Ireland, Great Britain and the U. S. next demanded termination of Sweden's ball-bearing trade with Germany in a determined campaign to halt the neutral countries' commerce with Axis Europe.

At the same time, it was announced that the Allies would look into Turkey's increased chrome shipments to Germany during the last three months, with a view toward limiting the traffic through a curtailment of our own trade with the Turks, whose lend-lease aid already has been cut down.

In hearing the Allies' demands, the Swedes said they were in no position to comply without breaking their formal agreement with Germany, which, they said, the Allies approved last September. Although there was objection to the ball-bearing shipments, Sweden's iron ore deliveries to the Nazis were not emphasized.

WOOL:
Big Stocks

With an all-high stock of foreign and U. S. wool, the Commodity Credit corporation was directed to go into the market to support the 1944 domestic clip estimated at 450,000,000 pounds.

Whereas U. S. stocks stand at record levels today, there were prospects of serious shortages when the Japs launched their South Pacific drive, threatening the Australian and New Zealand producing areas. Approximately 400,000,000 pounds of foreign wool is now owned by this country, with the Defense Supplies corporation holding 330,000,000 pounds and dealers and manufacturers the rest. At the same time, 550,000,000 pounds, is being held in this country for British account.

Because the U. S. clip sells about 18 cents a pound above foreign wool, the CCC has encountered difficulty disposing of the domestic stock, although the army now specifies its use in purchases and about 10 per cent of navy orders are expected to call for it.

PACIFIC:
India Threatened

With their backs against the rugged slopes of the Naga hills in central India, British and Indian troops fought desperately against persistent Japanese attempts to cut off their supply lines and entrap them in a huge pocket.

While the British and Indians were locked in their death struggle, U. S. bombers operated over a wide range in the Pacific, blasting Japanese installations in the Kurile islands, strung out to the north of Nippon, and plastering enemy bases on New Guinea, as part of the grand strategy to wipe out their strongholds on this flank of the Philippines.

In India, the Japs' continuing three-pronged drive pressed against British and Indian supply routes running both north and south and also to the west to the Assam-Bengal railroad, used to feed Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's American and Chinese troops clearing a communications highway in northern Burma to China.

INDUSTRY:
Postwar Reserves

Looking forward toward the problems of postwar readjustment, U. S. industry has set aside hundreds of millions of dollars out of profits for switching back to civilian production, rebuilding plants or providing lay-off payments to workers during the period of change.

To meet the emergency, United States Steel company has established a nest egg of $104,153,557; General Motors, $76,051,805; General Electric, $73,562,337; E. I. du Pont, $31,613,430; Sears, Roebuck, $28,500,000; United Aircraft, $28,004,464; International Harvester, $20,000,000; Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, $15,462,912; Borden company, $11,305,185; National Dairy Products, $10,000,000, and General Foods, $4,492,712.

Since such reserves cannot be taken out of income before taxes like deductions for depreciation, debt retirement and depletion, they must be put aside out of industry's profits.

Economic Protection

To prevent a repetition of the widespread bankruptcies and foreclosures which followed World War I, the Commodity Credit corporation is empowered to make loans at 90 per cent of parity on basic crops for two years after the end of hostilities. War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes declared.

While outlining the protection for farmers, Byrnes also proposed to help labor laid off from slackening war industries, through a system of federal unemployment benefits to be paid in addition to regular state payments. To relieve the problem of future unemployment, Byrnes suggested that workers be shifted from lagging war plants to busier ones now while jobs were available.

Byrnes advocated legislation for quick settlement of cancelled war contracts to aid industry in the re-conversion to civilian production, and he also called for congressional action to facilitate the orderly disposal of surplus war goods without disruption of regular markets.

Red Land and Sea Moves Mapped After Odessa

Swift and dramatic strokes came in the wake of the great Red victory at Odessa. By a sudden thrust at the Perekop isthmus the Russ had undertaken a move to cut off Crimea and gain Sevastopol. Action from sea, as well as land, was expected along the Romanian and Bulgarian coasts as well, following the Crimea offensive. Ships of the Black sea fleet had stood by for amphibious operations. Another move was a quick dash which cut the rail line at Ovidopol to trap Nazi forces hoping to escape.

There the government has undertaken the task of rehabilitating American men who lost their sight in this war, and preparing them for a brighter future.

Hula Girl on Ice!

"Steady, we'll help you!"—and who doesn't need help when donning ice skates for the very first time? Lieutenants Wilma Kaimlen, Monroe, Mich., and Agnes Malone, Massillon, Ohio, army nurses, are used to ice-skating back home, so they volunteered to teach Miss Kuilele Kehakeloa a few tricks on an indoor rink in Hawaii. Yes, there's nothing backward about Hawaii, as this skating rink proves.

Chopped Salad

Many green, vitamin-filled leaves of the cabbage head are thrown away because they are ragged or broken. These outer leaves that don't look too presentable are still useful for a chopped salad, or for soup.

Bent Branches

Bent branches may be pulled back into place and held by wire to other branches. Or, horticulturists say, a portion may be pruned.

Keep Frozen

With the exception of corn on the cob—which should be thawed in order that the cob may be warmed without overcooking the kernels—all vegetables should be kept frozen until within a few minutes of the cooking time. Asparagus, broccoli, and the like may be thawed just enough to enable the blocks to be broken apart to permit even penetration of heat. However, in no case should any vegetable be allowed to warm slowly, for undesirable changes in texture and flavor will then occur. Vegetables that have begun to thaw should be cooked at once, and under no consideration should they be refrozen.

Keep Frozen

With the exception of corn on the cob—which should be thawed in order that the cob may be warmed without overcooking the kernels—all vegetables should be kept frozen until within a few minutes of the cooking time. Asparagus, broccoli, and the like may be thawed just enough to enable the blocks to be broken apart to permit even penetration of heat. However, in no case should any vegetable be allowed to warm slowly, for undesirable changes in texture and flavor will then occur. Vegetables that have begun to thaw should be cooked at once, and under no consideration should they be refrozen.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

EGGS: Another record in egg production was turned in by America's hard-working hens during March, the third consecutive month of all-time highs. There were 6,763,000,000 eggs laid last month, 4 per cent above March last year and 49 per cent over the ten-year average, 1933-42. Number of laying hens increased 5 per cent from March, 1943, to 433,985,000.

MIDGET FURNACE: A tiny furnace, weighing only 21 pounds, may be sufficient to heat a 20-room house, if a new type of heating unit now used only in military aircraft can be applied to homes. The little furnaces would be only about the size of a waste basket and would cost about $50. Demonstration models have given encouraging results it was said.

Mason Says Beaches Assets of City and County

The following statement by Harrison W. Mason, candidate for supervisor in the First San Diego district, was issued to the Ocean Beach News this week. It relates to the Ocean Beach jetty project.

APRIL 24, 1944.

EDITOR HARTVIGSEN,
OCEAN BEACH NEWS.
MY DEAR EDITOR:

I noticed recently in your valued publication, a story relating to the long-delayed jetty project in Mission Bay outlet.

In part it read: "Several years ago the State Park commission set aside $50,000 to be matched by another $50,000 to be put up by the city of San Diego. It appears the latter has been most negligent in wanting this work to go ahead, possibly because certain officials have no interest here."

Regarding this matter, I wish to point out that development of our great beach recreational centers is of large interest to both city and county. The great ocean beach areas are among our most prized assets, and they should be constantly developed, and tax money used for that purpose.

In this instance, if the councilmen representing these areas, as well as the city council as a whole, do not see fit to proceed towards fulfillment of this improvement, that the county board of supervisors, being the highest legislative body in city and county, should match this project.

AS SUPERVISOR OF THE FIRST SAN DIEGO DISTRICT, I WOULD ADVOCATE ACTION IN THIS MATTER AT THE VERY EARLIEST. IMPROVEMENT FOR AREAS SUCH AS THE ONE MENTIONED IS OF IMPORTANCE TO EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD IN THE WHOLE OF SAN DIEGO CITY AND COUNTY.

Very sincerely yours,
—HARRISON W. MASON,

Candidate for Supervisor First District, San Diego, and Editor-Publisher San Diego North-eastern Examiner.

P.S.: Looking over recent issues of the Ocean Beach News, with a critical eye as I am a publisher myself, I hope the business men and citizens of your section appreciate the splendid news and advertising service your publication is quite apparently accomplishing. The Ocean Beach News is indeed a credit to the community newspaper profession of San Diego.

By ONA E. PITCOCK

How many of you heard Dr. Wassel on Vox-Pop? I wish every one of you could have heard him tell that if he could have had plasma, not one of the sick men he brought out on that long trek through jungle forest would have died. It is the duty of every American citizen, who qualifies, to give their blood, to call B-7704 and make an appointment to help save a life. Eat good nourishing foods such as meat, fowl, fish, soybeans, milk, eggs and vegetables so that you can give and give again. Our boys of this war have twice the chance to live as those of the last war because we have plasma. Any of our boys who have returned wounded or on leave can tell you what plasma means to service men. When your loved ones return you will be proud to show them the pin you receive when you have given a gallon. He will know you have been doing your share in backing him up.

If you could walk through just one hospital ward and see the men there you would not have to be asked to break loose of those clothes hangers with the rod across to hold pants, or those tablecloths you think you need or that used game, puzzle or book. You would give up that used instrument that is just drawing dust in the closet. Give those things now while they are so badly needed. Those boys who are in jungle forests and on isolated beaches would be glad to have that old harmonica. Miss Nye of camp and hospital wants to thank those who donated instruments a few weeks ago and to tell them they are on the way to the South Pacific. Just now Red Cross wants a used Victrola badly. If you have one that you will donate please call Miss Nye at F-8871, camp and hospital or B-5639 and we will call for it. We want all the Western stories and funny books that we can get. Please see how many you can give.

The local center now has a pattern for the authorized layout. Some of the ladies of the beach have taken up the layout as a project. They are certainly needed.

Remember that Tuesday is always cookie day. How those boys look forward to that day. On Mother's Day we want all the cookies you can make.

The new quota of gauze has arrived and workers are badly needed at all surgical dressing rooms. Go to the Marine base or Loma Portal work rooms as often as you possibly can. More and more dressings will be needed. Please do all you can to help in the war effort and bring our men home as soon as possible. Your own conscience tells you whether you are doing your share or not.

"Our Great Beach and Recreational Areas Should be Promoted to the Utmost"

Monday Will be May Day

May Day is a day of white clouds and white dresses, blue skies and green grass, and long ribbons winding and unwinding around maypoles.

It is a day of laughing, romping children—a day when some little girls over the nation become Queen of the May—and see a dream come true.

Our third May Day of the present war will lack little of the color and enthusiasm that makes it an event long anticipated and long remembered by the youngsters. This year it will be to the older people a reminder of our days of peace when the dads of many of the carefree little ones were there to see them instead of being at the other end of the earth.

But there will be other May Days—happier days—when the war is won and the dads are home to stay. In those days, the skies will look bluer and the grass greener and the laughter of children more joyous than ever before. Those are the days which the dads right now are fighting to insure.

Meantime the cloud of war will not hang heavily in the hearts of the little ones because—it's May Day!

Bayview 6101

No doubt many of you have read or heard that there is still need for a strong defense corps and Lt. Gen. D. C. Emmons, commander of the Western Defense command has urged publicly that there be no slackening of civilian effort.

With regard to the used kitchen greases and fats we are asked to save all we can and turn it in for the two red points and four cents per pound, as these waste materials are needed, and even though lard and salad oils are off the ration list the government still asks that we get in the used fats.

Recently two home nursing classes were completed which were held at the Ocean Beach school. The need for home nursing instruction is more necessary now than before as there are fewer nurses and doctors and they will become scarcer and scarcer. If there are any persons who may desire to receive this instruction, kindly communicate with Mrs. Leadbeater, Bayview 6101 and as soon as a class can be formed, those applying will be notified.

Our regular central committee meeting, in the Chamber of Commerce building on Broadway will be held on April 3rd, Wednesday, at 10 a.m. On the program will be the further awarding of the service ribbons to those having over 500 hours in Civilian Defense. These ribbons are being presented by Vice Adm. C. A. Blakely. Also on the program will be the topic of fire conditions and hazards. All sector leaders are requested to ask their block leaders to attend.

Horse Sense Will Solve Our Problems

It is our duty to make sure there is a democracy, to which the veteran can return. Let's get together and do our share in building a healthy economy and a sound government.

REPUBLICAN

DON SMITH for CongressSeven Goals to Seek*Babson Discusses National Debt

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 21.—The U. S. is probably headed for a $3,000,000,000 debt which no one likes to think of. Yet, at 2½% interest this is not so bad if it can be reduced. This interest is all paid to the people of our country. None of it leaves the U. S. A. Of every dollar received by us as interest, a certain proportion must be returned to the government as taxes. Hence, in a way, the debt will be self-liquidating as well as a business stabilizer. Every cloud has a silver lining.

Stop Further Postwar Borrowing

On the other hand, we must not be too free with our money. We cannot expect to put the whole world on a New Deal. The New Deal could not stand on its own feet here in this country, so we could not pay for it except with borrowed money. What can we do for the whole world? We are not justified in borrowing money to support millions in depressed countries with nothing back of them in industrial or farming facilities. Let us be generous with such money as we have, but not go into more debt to give away more money.

Also remember that if our cost of producing goods, including farm products, continues to increase, this will harm our American workers and farmers who are the backbone of our nation. It stands to reason that we cannot keep our social gains if we try to save the rest of the world by letting them send in their cheap goods that are made with cheap labor. If we do let in these cheap goods, millions of American workers are going to be out of jobs. Then our War Bonds could be a burden.

The Real Solution

After the Peace Makers get under way with their trade agreements, international bank, etc. and when unemployment is rampant because of foreign competition, and after the borrowing comes to an end, what will happen? I assume that then the New Dealers will want to start new government WPA projects to provide housing, clothing and goods for these idle workers. Yet, there is no need for this.

The alternative is to keep the cost of goods down so as to be able to meet competition during the years ahead. What is the sense of now building our costs sky-high when we know they must tumble after the war. In the meantime, the ultimate consumer will pay the bill. This will happen in spite of any labor or other organizations. Only wise investors and those engaged in active business can pass these costs along.

Things to Remember

To win the battle of production is the supreme task today

of both employers and wage workers. Private enterprise must prove its real usefulness to the country at this time of crisis and demonstrate its right to survive. It is the responsibility of all groups to produce the best possible product in quantities as large as needed at the lowest possible cost consistent with fair wages and a fair return on money invested.

America needs a national philosophy of teamwork. For business this means teamwork with each concern and teamwork with labor, competitors, the public and the Government. Though alien armies may be conquered, alien philosophies can still overrun the land. Industry is one of the first targets. The true battle line is between patriotic elements in management and labor on the one hand, and the self-seeking elements on the other.

Seven Postwar Goals

1. Industry should give as much thought to building men as to producing materials. The exploitation of human beings is the certain road to revolution. Industry must win the battle against fear, hate and greed. As America has found the power to harness the forces of physical nature, so it must now learn how to harness the forces of human nature. This is God's plan for a better world.

2. We all should cease talking about the abundant life and again teach that life is struggle. Homes, schools and colleges should once more put the emphasis on sacrifice, training and the good of all. But all must be given more equal opportunities, irrespective of color or creed.

3. Fewer laws should be enacted but greater emphasis will be put upon law enforcement. Accompanied with this there should be a movement to let natural law work more freely. There will be fewer subsidies to unfortunate farmers, inefficient manufacturers and independent merchants. There, however, will be a recognition that the safety of the nations depends upon prohibiting certain commercialized evils.

4. Big cities should be decentralized. This is the only known protection against bombing hazards as well as against social hazards. This may be accomplished by some method of taxation that will encourage more people to leave in the rural sections.

5. Voting some day should be restricted. Because one is of age, he is not necessarily entitled to vote irrespective of character, intelligence or record. This does not mean that one must own property in order to vote; but it does mean that prospective voters

The American people don't like it, but are enduring it because of wartime necessity. Hundreds of bureaus, boards and commissions have been created, and they must be abolished as soon as practicable when peace comes.

However, this may not be easily accomplished, as political history proves such agencies are rarely if ever voluntarily eliminated.

Right now some of the high command in the New Deal inner circle are planning to continue a form of regimentation by perpetuating powerful bureaus.

As your Congressman I would fight this scheme to a finish.

Egg Glut Calls Attention To School-Lunch Question

House of Representatives Decides Against Spending Taxpayers' Money on Food for School Children After July 1.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building
Washington, D. C.

You have often heard the lament when guests came and the larder was bare: "If we only had some ham and had some eggs, we could have ham and eggs."

If we had the man power and the machinery, equipment and distribution, we could step up American food production until, by 1954, we could feed 380 million people. That is what the Department of Agriculture says. Last year, we raised enough to feed 170 million.

Today, Washington is worrying over two problems brought into focus by that little "if."

This time we have over-production of one food product: eggs. Government agents are hurrying around trying to find a means of absorbing them. America has more eggs than were ever laid on these fair shores in our history, enough to have rolled some on the White House lawn on Easter Monday if the President had permitted such a wastage, which he wouldn't.

The government is buying eggs right and left (600 thousand cases of shell eggs, 13 million pounds of powdered eggs since January 1) to support the farmer's price, and giving some away — and here is where the problem number two, which I said Washington was worrying about, comes in. We are giving away eggs to state and federal institutions and also for school lunches. After July 1, school lunches, supported by the federal government, will be no more if the senate follows the action of the house and refuses the appropriation for that purpose. And regardless of eggs, there is developing the other situation over which certain people in Washington are worried. I'll go into that later, but first, let us look at the egg glut.

We are told that we could feed a lot more people if we had the man power, equipment and machinery to produce the food. In the case of eggs, we could consume far more if we had the man power to run the drying equipment to produce the powdered eggs for the military forces and lend-lease although those institutions now consume 400 million pounds of egg-powder a year, and eggs run about three dozen to one pound of powder.

About Hen Power

In this case, the man power doesn't match the hen power. A contraption called a cyclone drier dries eggs. All you have to do is to crack the egg and drop it into a container and let the artificial breeze blow, but it's hard to get crackers. One Kansas City drier an hour for his ceiling of 50 cents an hour for his crackers, has to compete with an airplane plant in the neighborhood which has a 50 cents an hour ceiling, for work no less attractive to young ladies than breaking eggs.

Right now, the country boasts the biggest hen population it ever had and egg production is 80 per cent higher than it was just before the war. Ever since March, something has gotten into the hens that has made them step up their production — feed was supposed to be hard to get so it couldn't have been something they ate. Maybe it's just patriotism. Anyhow, the War Food administration is buying all the eggs it can, and now it is giving eggs to schools for school lunches and to state and federal institutions, not entirely because it has a generous heart but because it wants to support the price to the farmer who (as usual) hasn't been getting the benefit of the retail prices which, in many places, have stayed up even in the face of the greater supply. Washington, however, was able to buy eggs for the Easter rabbit this year, 18 cents a dozen cheaper than they were in March.

This egg glut has brought into sharp focus the school-lunch question which is of considerable concern to the Office of Education as well as the War Food administration.

The present laying spree of the hens will not last forever, and there will be no eggs to throw around later on. And anyhow, the house of representatives has decided that even if there were a surplus of eggs and other food products, it does not approve of spending the taxpayers' money on school lunches even if the four or five million school children won't get hot lunches after July 1 of this year.

Not all the parents of all of the four or five millions of school children are taxpayers. In fact, the truth is that many of them are too poor to buy a decent, or in some cases any, lunch for their children. The richer ones who can afford a lunch will have to be satisfied with a cold one and the chances are they won't get nearly as healthy a one as if it were provided by a school where parent-teacher and other groups have seen to it that a balanced diet is provided.

Educators Worried

This worries the Office of Education which is still working on congress to get an appropriation through to continue the school lunch idea.

School lunches started as "made work" back in the days of depression and the WPA. The original idea was to provide employment for women. But as the idea developed, it was discovered that here was an opportunity to do two things; to improve the health of school children and to absorb farm surpluses.

So the WPA furnished the woman power and some equipment and the Department of Agriculture furnished the food. For awhile, the department took the actual responsibility of buying the food and delivering it. Later, when the WPA went out of business, and in many cases local sponsors took care of the service, the Department of Agriculture merely contributed a certain amount of money (nine cents per child, matched by nine cents from the local community). This came out of funds provided for the purchase of surplus commodities and the school bought the food itself.

The proponents of the school lunch point out that on the principle that as a twig is bent the tree is inclined, furnishing a balanced lunch to school children will build good eating habits which will affect the whole community. It also points out that now that so many schools, especially in rural areas, have been consolidated with one school and bus service drawing children from many distant places, children can't go home to get a good hot lunch. Many can't afford to bring food with them.

Of course, the community ought to look after this question itself and in most communities great interest has been shown and local authorities have cooperated. But in the poorer communities which have the greatest need, it is impossible, and even in the richer locations it isn't easy, to get money for things pertaining to the schools — as school teachers' salaries all over the country testify.

Unless the appropriation bill now before the Senate Appropriations committee is accepted and passed by both houses, the next time the hens step up production, the school children won't benefit nor will they feast at federal expense even if other farm products are so plentiful the government has to buy them up to protect prices.

News From London

The London Daily Mail sets up a little special edition for the United States—a digest. It is photographed in London on microfilm, flown over to this country, enlarged to a four to six page brochure, about the size of ordinary typewritten sheets.

I do not know how large a circulation it has obtained so far or whether it is achieving its purpose of mutual understanding but it often contains some rather interesting items. For instance:

John Henry Jones, a 40-year-old steel smelter, came to America with other British trade unionists to visit our war factories. The Daily Mail quotes his reply to one of his wife's questions when he got back: "How about wages? Is the American worker really better off than the British worker?" And this is what Mr. Jones replied:

"Taking a chap with the same size house, same number of children, doing the same job as his counterpart over here — No. Our house here would cost $18 a month clear, in rent. A similar house in the States would run away with $30 a month."

Blouses of Mexican Influence Are Such Gay Little Flatterers!

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

SPRING'S in the air and far-sighted girls with an eye to week-ends are organizing their spring and summer wardrobe right now so as to be carefree when the great outdoors calls to sports and "off duty" recreation.

The big idea these days in regard to clothes is to "make your own." It is easy to sew and if you plan your costumes so that with the aid of accessories and interchangeable parts they may be made to play a many-purpose role, you'll find that a very few things can go very far. A good suit especially, plus a collection of really attractive blouses, can take you anywhere in "style."

Blouses are tremendously important this year and they dress a suit up or down according to occasion. So start sewing today. There's a whole world of innovation and fashion news you can sew into each blouse. You are limited only by your imagination, which requires practically no outlay—just planning and doing with a will.

Of course, the first step is to choose your material. Cottons are a fine bet this year. Select your cottons carefully, eyelet embroidery for one, organdy for another and a good substantial and gaily colorful printed linen for a third. Each one of these will tub perfectly and you can see by the models pictured how pretty-pretty they will look.

The next big essential in making your own blouses is to get a smart easy-to-follow pattern. The same pattern has been used for each of the three beguiling blouses pictured, which is a good idea for the girl who does her own sewing. Using versatile materials will differentiate their appearance.

Prettiness itself is stressed in the pattern of simplicity selected for this trio of blouses. Throughout the entire style program simplicity is the big idea this spring. You see this demonstrated especially in the new blouses that feature naive low-cut necklines and quaint little puffed sleeves that definitely portray simplicity design. It adds to the lure of the blouses pictured that they are so a la Mexicana in their picturesque quality.

The first of these blouse "lovelies" (pictured to the left) is made of a gay Mexican printed linen. It has one of the new adjustable drawstring necklines. Tied close to your throat it is simply perfect to wear right now with your spring suit. Later on the neckline can go more décolleté. Worn with the popular dirndl skirt you'll love it. Wear it for sports or dress as the mood moves you.

A big play is being made on fine white sheers sweetly fashioned with myriads of frivolous little ruffles, beautified with exquisite handwork. Centered in the group is a lovely blouse of sheerest white organdy. The pert little ruffles go definitely South American in that they take on gay colored embroidery accents. This model has the fashionable deep U-neckline that can be drawn high or low for out and out flattery.

A dream of a blouse in spanking white eyelet embroidery is shown to the right. Wear it with a short skirt in the day—either a color-bright dirndl or a slim wrap-around crepe skirt. It makes good also as an evening blouse worn with a floor-length skirt. A self ruffle around the neck and "little girl" puffed sleeves are your guarantee that this charming eyelet model, so definitely speaking "simplicity design," will make you look your most winsome. A huge Mexican straw hat worn with this blouse will stress the picturesque note.

Poplin Plaid Suit

Town-wear cottons are quite the rage this season. Not only are they made up stunningly, but women are taking great care to see that the washables are of the everlasting type that tub perfectly.

There's style distinction in the tailoring of this chic costume, with special emphasis on the nicely detailed bracelet sleeves and the buttons.

Note the extreme tilt of the smart little capelet. It brings you the latest news as to how we will be wearing our little berets and pill-boxes and wee sailors this spring and summer—tilted way to one side!

Florals Are Motif of New Border Prints

When it comes to the new border prints only seeing is believing how really beautiful they are. We have in mind the piques and crepes and old-fashioned long cloth weaves that are usually white or a pastel monotone with enormous spaced florals perhaps only one, two or three to the yard. The full-blown rose is a favorite motif and they look exactly as if they had been hand-painted on the fabric background. They won't fade away, ease your mind about that, for the creators of everlasting materials have kept thoughtfully before them that modern washables must be both sun-proof and suds-proof to satisfy the demands of the fabric-wise women of today. You will be wanting a dress of the everlasting border-print gingham which has the "something different" look about it which every woman covets. In these gingham stripes and checks are woven all of a piece with a wide border banding separating the new patterns.

Matching Hat and Purse

Sets in Black Velveteen

Quilted black velveteen purses may be matched to black velveteen or feathered hats. And big rectangles of black broadcloth with mock tortoise shell trim prove just the ingredient that will make your black and brown accessories blend together into an ensemble.

If you want to be original, consider a small melon muff of velveteen for gala wear, or a big important looking style with a front of ermine tails. More unusual than these are the new round feather muffs, which are completely covered by soft, smooth, beige and brown duck feathers.

ON THE HOME FRONT

With RUTH WYETH SPEARS

SCALLOPS are in fashion. Big scallops, little scallops, pointed or round scallops; deep or shallow, convex or concave; also cut-out curves and scrolls—they are used for cornices over windows in bedroom, bath, kitchen, dining room, dinette and living room. They are used also to frame or to partly frame cupboards of many different types ranging from gay kitchen cupboards to a dignified break-front for the living room.

You can have all the scallops you want even in these times. They may be cut out of any thin wood or, if that is not available, composition board may be used. It is easy to cut simple scallop designs by hand with a coping saw. If there is a jig saw in your household there is literally no end to the scalloped borders that you may plan. Even if you have no saw at all you may mark your scallops as shown here and take them to a woodworking shop to be cut out.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears has made a pattern with 10 basic scallop and scroll designs with illustrated directions for combining them in many different ways for windows and cupboards of all sizes. Other suggestions for using scallops for home

'Independent' Miners Dig, Sell 2,000,000 Tons Coal

About 2,600 "independent" miners in Pennsylvania still dig and sell more than 2,000,000 tons of anthracite coal a year from property owned by large collieries, despite the war that has been waged against them for almost a decade, says Collier's.

Recently, they organized and even sent an appeal to Washington for help in stopping further action against them.

THE STORY THUS FAR: Lieut. Col. Frank Kutz, pilot of a Flying Fortress, tells of that fatal day when the Japs struck in the Philippines. Eight of his men were killed fleeing for shelter, and Old 99, with many other Fortresses, was demolished before it could take off. After escaping to Australia, what is left of the squadron flies to Java where they go out on many missions over the Philippines. Nine P-40 fighter planes arrive from Australia a few days before a Jap bomber force is reported over Java. Three waves of Japs come over, and Zeros get Major Straubel, squadron commander. The Forts stop a Jap carrier in the Java sea and send it away limping. Then more Forts arrive.

CHAPTER XIV

"The Japs by now were stirred up. They came over—obviously off a carrier hidden somewhere near—and strafed hell out of Timor airdrome. Luckily there was nothing on the field just then.

"Now we began to see that it would be only a matter of time until the Japs took that steppingstone field at Timor, which connected us to Australia, and it would all be over—for no more fighters could get through to us under their own power. Jap bombers had already hit Surabaya. If we got no more fighters, how long before they smashed our Forts at Malang? The skies were darkening fast.

"But about this time we did a curious job for the Dutch. I was in their Navy headquarters on business when Commander van der Straaten came running up. 'You got to help me!' he said. 'Our bravest sub is in trouble—she can't dive.' Then he explained that she was more than three hundred miles out in the Java Sea, moving slowly toward home base, but that Zeros were circling overhead, and had probably summoned Jap bombers to polish her off. Two Dutch PB's had been guarding her, but those big flying boats are clumsy as ducks, and the Zeros had already shot one down.

"What they had to have, Van der Straaten explained, was fighters to cover the submarine. But the little Dutch Curtiss fighters didn't have the range to get out and back.

"I got Bud Sprague on the phone, told him I was coming out—urgent. Then I wrote down on a piece of paper what Van der Straaten told me of their submarine's course, speed, and hourly position.

"Bud laid it out on a chart and figured fast. It was a long distance. Even with belly tanks, his fighters could barely get out there and spend fifteen minutes patrolling the submarine when they'd have to start back.

"But he figured he had enough planes to keep two of them over her all the time—in fifteen-minute relays—until they'd escorted her back to a point where the little Dutch Curtiss fighters would have the range to take over.

"Bud led the first pair out himself (he's no swivel-chair officer), and the Dutch, in addition to being tearfully grateful, woke up to the fact that maybe liaison was a good idea. Van der Straaten noticed I'd had trouble getting a car getting out to the field—I'd been spending most of my salary on taxis getting everybody's business done—and the next morning a Dutch staff car with a sergeant at the wheel reported to the door of the hotel. They assigned it to me for the duration of the war.

"But at this point another submarine showed up with a hard-luck story—she was one of ours which had sneaked through the Jap blockade from Corregidor, with a load of fourteen passengers—most of them pilots I knew, who had lost their planes and been left when we had to pull out of the Philippines.

"They came roaring into the hotel late. They were sick of fiddling around on Bataan with rifles, and now were itching to get into the air again. In addition to which, they'd been cooped up for days under water in that stinking little tin cigar box. You can imagine how a pilot would take that. Here they were at last, free in a big luxurious hotel, with lights and girls. They nearly pulled it to pieces, and danced with all the girls in the place who would take a chance with them on the floor. But in between they had plenty of news.

"I told them they had me in liaison work just now, and they said, hell, if I had talents like that, the place for me was on Corregidor. Because the Army had the Navy stuffed into one end of a tunnel while they were stuffed into the other, and relations were so strained that the staffs would only communicate by courier. And now how about a shot so much talk about? 'I finally got them quieted down and on the bus for Malang. They were crazy' to get back up in the air after all those weeks.

"And then, just as I was about to go to bed, a call from Margo came through.

"Some friends wanted me to go to Florida with them," said Margo. "The girl's husband had a war job there. I couldn't decide. But Frank said it looked as though he wasn't going to get any vacation, so I should take a good long one to do for both of us. I must go, and it would be our vacation. I could tell he was very tired, and that worried undertone was in his voice. I had been glad when he told me he would probably be on the ground for a while, so I couldn't understand it. Nobody in the States doubted yet that Java would hold. I told him I'd call him as soon as I reached Florida. And then he said a curious thing.

"Darling," he said, "I'd better warn you that these calls may not last much longer."

"I didn't ask why, because I knew it must be something the censor would not let him tell me. So because the time was up, I just said good night. Without ever talking it over, we'd always made it our rule never to say goodbye. That was too frightening. Always it was good night."

"But next day Colonel Eubank gathered his Forts together and they took off at 3:30 in the morning, so that they would be out over Macassar Strait in time to make their bomb run just at dawn.

"They had to come down below the overcast to see the target, which was two converging lines of Jap ships, heavily escorted—one coming in from the northeast and one from Tarakan. Well, we hit it. And of course we do some damage. But it's a big force—the Navy doesn't dare go in. We have only a handful of Forts, so the Japs keep coming.

"But we're desperate, and so are the Dutch. Their entire bomber force now consisted of eight old B-10's (a 1934 model Martin twin-engine bomber), which were based at Balikpapan. These boys knew if the Japs were ever to give our reinforcements time to get in—if we were going to get any. So that afternoon they made their last desperate stab—damaging that Jap fleet of course, but not stopping it. And just as these Dutch bombers were coming in to land on Balikpapan Field, they were hit by carrier-based Zeros and every plane destroyed. Now the Dutch had nothing, and everything depended on our Forts.

"So the next day they put out from Malang to strike at the Japs in Macassar, and if possible sink a carrier. But what happened on that mission should not be my story. For I wasn't there. Two of our Sky Queens died that day in battle and I didn't see it. It doesn't happen often. Plenty of them had come home crippled. Others were beached, like Shorty Wheelers' plane. Many others have cracked up when fog shrouded the field. But we'd lost only five by enemy action, and rarely have the Japs seen one fall. Colin crashed through the overcast near Clark Field, so they didn't see him—they saw Adams, but not Major Robinson. Seldom do our own boys ever see the old Queens go down in battle. So you tell it," said Frank, and here he looked at Sergeant Boone, the gunner.

"I saw it," said the Gunner, "and I can tell you how they die."

"It began like this. Nine of us had taken off from Malang to Macassar Strait to look for carriers. We had only started, we were about sixty miles off the coast, slowly climbing—had reached 7,000 feet—when we noticed some fighters in a tight formation. We assumed that they were P-40's, but we weren't taking any chances, because there seemed to be quite a gang of them—maybe some reinforcements had arrived which we hadn't heard of. So we watched as they came closer. Only when we saw the white points of our Army Air Force star with the red disk in the middle were we relieved. It hadn't occurred to us that you can take the red sun of Japan and with a few strokes of a paintbrush make five white star points around it.

(Shortly after this incident, the army air force emblem was changed, and the red central disk removed.)

"We didn't dream of this, but still we watched what we were so sure were P-40's. They were flying along with us, about three thousand yards away, apparently paying no attention. We didn't suspect they were Japs, mapping out their attack.

"There was nothing about this maneuver which surprised us, for the Japs so far had always attacked us from the rear. Then they wheeled in for their nose-on attack, and too late we saw those Army Air Force stars on their fuselages had been crudely forged.

"They concentrated on our first three planes, and remember now that this first attack, which caught us completely off guard and far below our regular altitude, happened in only a few seconds. One Fortress they hit only in the motor. The next Fortress, they put an incendiary through the bomb-bay gas tank—they must have known through subversive activities in Java that we didn't have leakproof ones yet in that model. This set off the oxygen system, and the whole Fortress flared in front of our eyes in a puff of flame and smoke. Out of this we could see two or three parachutes floating down. Maybe the men dangling from them were alive. More probably they had never pulled the rip cords themselves, but the explosion opened the chutes.

"I was working the top turret gun, and from here I could see exactly what was happening on the third Fortress—Captain Duke Duphrane's ship—which was just on our left, and very close. I saw it, and so did Sergeant Jim Worley, the bombardier, who was working the little .30-caliber nose gun, and had brought down three Zeros. We all saw some of it, but Worley and I saw most.

"First, we saw Duphrane's plane shudder as the Jap tracers crashed into its cockpit and into its bomb bay. But she didn't go down yet. For a while she continued on with her chin up, like those pictures you see of Marie Antoinette or Mary Queen of Scots walking proudly toward the scaffold. And she didn't waver or flinch, even when we could see that dull-red flames from the burst gasoline tanks of that bomb bay were sprouting out of her, from the cockpit clear back to the tail.

"We surged just a little ahead of her nose, and from here we could see Duke Duphrane and his copilot both slumped over dead, their heads leaning against the shattered pane of the cockpit window. So it wasn't any man who was keeping her chin up. It was the Old Queen herself who wanted to die this way.

"We dropped back and came in a little closer—you had an awful feeling you wanted to help, and you couldn't—and we saw Sergeant Keightley, her radioman and right-waist gunner, climb through his escape hatch and bail out, and his chute open. And then her left-waist gunner, doing the same on the other side. We saw her tail gunner bail out and his chute open—they found him four or five days later on an island.

"She was enveloped in red flames now from nose to tail, and through her windows we could see flames shimmer inside her cabin, and as her plates melted she began to sink in a steepening curve, and along the wake of that curve we were to count seven parachutes, like seven swirling dandelion seeds.

"But as yet she hadn't gone down much, and our own pilot, Captain Strother—a brave, skillful pilot (who was presently to die—and every man of his crew feels he gave his life to save ours)—was keeping abreast of her, so that with our guns we could keep the Japs away in her last moments, and give her men a chance to jump.

"The last to leave her was Sergeant Leonard Coleman, her turret gunner—we could see him working his .50's, but now he left his turret. We saw him go by the side window, and he was struggling to put on his parachute—which he hadn't worn in that cramped top turret, for it would have interfered with his sighting and shooting—struggling to get his arms through it like a jacket among those licking flames. We saw him go back to the rear escape hatch, saw him drop through it with his clothes afire, saw him jerk the cord—he must have done it immediately, because by the time he had cleared the flaming tail by twenty feet, we saw his chute crack tight-open. But then, almost instantly, we saw that parachute begin to billow loosely like a silk scarf in the wind, because—Oh, God!—we saw something else. We saw the poor guy had had to jump without having time to buckle the belt strap of his parachute—the price he paid for staying in his turret for a few last shots at Zeros, protecting the others while they jumped. Maybe he figured he could hold the ends of the belt together with his hands. Maybe his hands were so burned he couldn't work the clasp.

Keep to Simplicity In Foods, Serving For Good Hostessing

Create this spring tonic by using salmon and asparagus in a custard when eggs are plentiful. Bake in ramekins set in a pan of water, using a moderate oven so that the texture of the custard will be perfect.

Hospitality is unrivaled even in wartime. Food restrictions curb the serving of elaborate meals, but homemakers still want their friends over for a pleasant chat over luncheon or to "try out something new" in the way of a recipe.

Simplicity is the keynote of good entertaining. It doesn't do to try out complicated recipes or menu patterns just to make an impression. If something goes wrong then everything is thrown off schedule and as a result the guests may be made uncomfortable, thus defeating the whole purpose of getting together.

With time at a premium, simple combinations are the order of the day. This will keep fluster at a minimum and the food budget within its bounds.

Dress-Up! Domestic herbs will dress many a stew and pot-pie into a dish fit for kings. Try a dash of thyme, marjoram and sage, but remember, just a dash!

Meat loaves become party-ish if topped with catsup. Meat pies take on color if topped with green pepper rings before serving.

Muffins and rolls made in small-size muffin tins give distinction to dinners and luncheons. Pieces of leftover fruit atop muffins and breads are colorful.

Vegetables are gay if served in buttercups. Trim crusts off bread slices, press them in muffin cups and toast to a golden brown. Very pretty!

Be a Hostess!
Not just in name but in deed! As a hostess, see that your guests are comfortable, not just in food you feed them but in the conversation channels into which you guide them; in the introductions by which you open up new worlds and friends to them; in the games which they play; in everything, be gracious, smiling and untroubled. Sheep in Near East Need Cart to Carry Heavy Tail

Do you know that in the Near East there are sheep whose tails are so large and ponderous that the animals are provided with small four-wheeled carriages in order to relieve the weight of the tail and prevent it from coming into contact with the ground?

The oriental passion for greasy foods has led to the development of this type of sheep in which the fattest portion of the animal, the tail, combines excessive adiposity with enormous length.

If you know a Navy man, don't ever call him a "gob"—sailors consider the name an insult. You can get on the right side of him though if you offer him a Camel—or better yet, send him a carton. Camels are the favorite cigarette with men in the Navy (Army, Marines, Coast Guard, too, for that matter) based on actual sales records from the service men's stores. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

"I STOPPED DOSING MY CONSTIPATION A YEAR AGO!"

Says Happy KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN User

If you are still dosing your constipation, don't fail to read this unsolicited letter!

"I'd been troubled with common constipation for years. Tried many kinds of medicines for it. Then, just about a year ago, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. I ate it regularly, without missing a day. It helped so much, I have not taken one dose of medicine for constipation since, nor have I confined myself to any diet!" Mr. S. P. Leche, Charleston, Missouri.

Sounds like magic, doesn't it? But, scientists say, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation—lack of dietary "cellulosic" elements—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements! They help the friendly colonic flora puff up and prepare the colonic contents for easy elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't "sweep you out"! It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If you have constipation of this kind, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't find real relief. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Memo to

Mrs. Housewife

By Anne Goode.

Have you seen the new mother and daughter apron sets? They come in all colors of fairy tale prints and make perfect gifts. They'll also encourage the young miss to take an interest in cooking.

Although you don't have to turn in an empty tube to get more toothpaste, WPB salvage division urges us to save and turn in all collapsible tubes.

Your jars of real mayonnaise should never be placed close to the freezing unit in the refrigerator. It is only necessary to keep real mayonnaise at a moderate temperature about 50 to 70 degrees.

Some people will buy anything, but do beware of glib salesmen who are selling "Mexican nylons" saying they'll be just like American ones if kept in the icebox for two weeks. They're rayon!

To keep green color in your fresh spring vegetables, cook them in an open saucepan and in very little water. Use left-over vegetable liquid in soups and gravies.

Here's a time-saving sandwich hint. Mix vitaminized margarine with your sandwich spread and you'll have to spread the bread only once.

January onion stocks were low in 10 years. Use a smidgeon of garlic for seasoning when you can't get onions. Or keep a pot of chives on hand.

Tangerine syrup may substitute for apple syrup due to the shortage caused by the short 1943 apple crop.

The Purse Poker

Of all female creatures there's nothing much worse than the girl who keeps poking inside of her purse! And tho' I don't know what she's trying to find While I stand there and watch her I'm losing my mind! She digs for her lipstick, her powder and paint While I stand there waiting and ready to faint! For just as she finds it, relieving my pain, She opens her purse and starts searching again! She fiddles and fusses and pulls the things out And wonders what I'm looking bored about! She yanks out her hankie, her mirror and keys And I feel myself weakening in both of my knees! Her purse is so full that it can't help but sag; I don't see how so much junk could fit in one bag! Whatever she's after seems certain to hide When she fumbles and fidgets and puts inside. Ah! bring on the casket, the flowers and hearse, But spare me the lady who pokes in her purse! —REINA, La Jolla. (The Northeast Corner, San Diego Union).
